Appendix A
Challenger Challenge

FHL Film #1526776, Parish Church of Wrington, Somerset

Baptisms ... Mary dr of William and Mary Challenger, 10 months old, 22 June 1779
(note: from the census we know that born ~ Aug 1778 ... could be a good fit!)

The only relevant marriage found was:

No. 40, James Challenger of this parish of Wrington in the County of Somerset, batchelor and Mary Hincks of this Parish, spinster married in this church by license on the eighth day of February in the Year one thousand seven hundred and sixty two by me Henry Waterland Rector. In the presence of John Barnes, Jane Barnes.

(NOTE: except this Mary Challenger seemed to die in 1767! A problem!)

There were many Catherine Thomas' that died in Swansea ... not possible to determine which is ours!

The Cambrian index also had this entry... was Ann's mother possibly an innkeeper and then the daughter and husband went into the trade? Notice that she was the proprietor of the South Wales though others seemed to be the proprietor before George did so since in 1861 he was living with the Dyer family and not yet married to Ann Thomas.

Have looked at the 1861 census to see if we can find the sisters; we have not yet identified their parents via the marriage of Ann to George ... a possibility for the family is below ... this address is not far from where George was living in 1861 on Caroline Street with the Dyer family.

If this was the family ... then it's just coincidental that a Mary Thomas was in Swansea in 1855.

Appendix C Alfred Currey

We don't remember and for some reason, we started tracking the baby of the Currey family, Alfred Currey ... probably because his name is fairly unique! Working backwards from 1901 ... again, why this way instead of forward ...

Find in a 1902 Directory^v, that this address is now listed as Parker & Sons, Nurserymen ... in fact, the whole stretch of road is listed as businesses and not residential. And, neither of the daughters are listed either as individuals or as teachers.

CODFORD ST. MARY is a parish, on the banks of the Wyle, and on the road from Salisbury to Warminster, in the Southern division of the county, hundred of Heytesbury, Warminster union and county court district, diocese and archdeaconry of Salisbury, and rural deanery of Wylve, distant 7 miles south-east from Warminster, 14 north-west from Salisbury, and 3 from Heytesbury, adjoining Stockton, Sherrington, and Codford St. Peter, in the latter of which there is a station on the Great Western Railway. The church of St. Mary was restored in 1844, and a south aisle added, which is connected with the nave by an arcade supported by three clustered piers; the chancel arch was for centuries so covered with plaster that its beauty was unheeded; the ornament constituting the enrichment of the architecture is very elaborate: in an adjoining recess, on the south side, serving as a sacristy, at the end of the new aisle, is the Mompesson monument: the panels of the pulpit are richly carved in oak, and are in high preservation; the communion table is made from the old pulpit of the church of St. Mary the Virgin, Oxford; the square tower, which contains 3 bells, is ancient. The register dates from 1653. The living is a rectory, yearly value £350, with residence, in the patronage of St. John's College, Oxford, and held by the Rev. John William Hammond, B.D., of that college. There is a place of worship for Independents. On the summit of Codford Hill, in this parish, is Oldbury Camp, an earthwork forming a complete circle, and surrounded by a vallum and fosse constructed with great regularity. Henry Godolphin Biggs, Esq., of Stockton House, is principal landowner. The soil is light chalk; subsoil, chalk and flint. The chief crops are wheat, oats and barley. The population in 1861 was 404; area, nearly 2,123 acres.

Appendix D

Sarah Jemima Currey Dyer & Family

In 1851, Frances Mary Currey Hawkins is listed as Cousin-in-law to John Dyer, husband of Jemima Currey. So, it would appear that Jemima and Frances Mary were cousins ... So, what do we know about Jemima Currey^{xviii}?

- ◆ Jemima's name before she was married to John was CURREY.
- ◆ John DYER and Sarah Jemima CURREY were married at St. Paul's Church, Portland Square, in December 1839.

Interestingly, in 1861, we can find the Hawkins family and not the Dyer family ... well, we find 3 of the children with no parents listed (see info for George Hawkins Jr). This was because George Hawkins (Jr) was still living with the family. Part of the explanation is that the husband of Sarah Jemima Dyer, John Dyer, died in the June Quarter of 1852^{xix}!

This explains why this 1852-3 Directory^{xx} listing still has him.

~~Confectioners~~
Dyer John, Bridgend
Millward Thomas, Bridgend

In 1858^{xxi}, his widow is listed as:

Confectioners

Dyer Sarah Jemima, Bridgend
Millward Thomas, Bridgend
Shelland William, Bridgend
Thomas John, Bridgend

Grocers and Dealers in Sundries

Brown Evan, Bridgend
Burnell Catherine, Bridgend
Cooke Thomas, Bridgend
David John, Porthcawl
David Watkin, Bridgend
Davies William, Bridgend
Dyer Sarah Jemima, Bridgend

By 1871 Census^{xxii} ... we find that Sarah Jemima has remarried and two of her children are living with her in Bridgend. This census entry is also notable in that we subsequently learn that the surname was listed by the enumerator as her 2nd husband's birth place ... we finally figure this bit out with the 1881 census. Thank goodness for other family members ... that is what cracked this issue!

Apparently, her daughter Mary Eliza died in 1869... FreeBMD lists for Deaths in the the September Quarter of 1869:

DYER Mary Eliza 17 Bridgend 11a 231

Have had no success tracking any of the family in 1881^{xxiii} until it was realized that in 1871 the enumerator confused his birth place with his surname ... calling him Francis Warwick instead of Francis Earl! It was the niece and Jemima again being referred to as a Sarah J that allowed us to link the 1871 and 1881 entries!

Interestingly, she is not buried with her 2nd husband ... and we haven't found where her 1st husband, John Dyer, is buried. And, we don't find the niece Margaret Earl and this marriage might be the answer to that^{xxviii}!

Notice that again, Sarah's name is bizarre ... her last name is listed as Earl Warwick ... from what we can determine ... Earl was the last name and Warwick was the birthplace of her deceased husband.

Working backwards ... we find that Sarah J and Francis are not married by 1861 ... he is listed as a widower living with his children in Newcastle. So, we know that they married between 1861 and 1871. This still doesn't help us know where Sarah J was in 1861 and given that her children are listed without her ... who knows!

How is Jemima related to Frances Mary?

Searching the IGI (www.familysearch.org) shows a family, baptized in Bristol to a William and Sarah Currey

What's interesting is the use of the name Georgiana and also there is a Jemima ... though in this case she is too young, unless baptized as an adult. Looking at deaths from September Quarter 1837 forward, it appears that ... at least Selina and Georgiana died as children. Since the records are not complete, it's hard to determine if more of them died before reaching majority. We have not been able to find the family, including the parents in the 1861 census. Unfortunately, the names William and Sarah are common enough ... that we can't know if the persons by these names who died in Bristol in 1840 & 1844, respectively, are the parents!

Appendix E Jacob's Pill Shipyard

Pembroke Dock Community Website - History Section

http://www.pembrokedock.org/h_jacobs.htm

Map: Jacob's Pill private dockyard, 1876.
[courtesy: Pembrokeshire Record Office]

The following has been extracted from the history on the above page. Only general information and that applicable to ships built for John Cory has been included. Much of this page is about ships built for the Japanese Navy and this has been ignored. [Ruth]

The story began when Edward J Reed (later Sir Edward), former Chief Constructor of the Royal Navy had political ambitions, and decided to stand as the Conservative candidate for Pembroke Boroughs. He promised, if elected, that he would build a private shipyard in Pennar, Pembroke Dock offering to employ many of the workers recently made redundant from the nearby Royal Dockyard. His opponents vociferously protested, but the incentive offered persuaded sufficient people to vote for him and he was returned to Westminster with a majority of 29 in February 1874.

True to his word he opened a shipyard in Jacob's Pill, Pennar, Pembroke Dock, and set up the Milford Haven Shipbuilding and Engineering Company. (Pill is local dialect for a small tidal inlet; this one owes its name to Jacob Jenkins who once lived in the vicinity).

The Jacob's Pill Yard seems to have had mixed fortunes after the glory days. There was a lull between 1877 and 1882. Work may have been done during this time but I can find no record of it. 1882 saw the construction of the Rheubina, an iron hulled screw and sail ship of 737 tons. The following year the Rhiwderin, 988 tons of similar construction was built, both for John Cory and Sons of Cardiff.

The yard seems to have had numerous sheds and buildings but the ship building slip was very primitive and the workers had to stand in the mud of the tidal estuary to work. A plan of the proposed yard, approved by the Board of Trade on January 17, 1876 shows a covered ship building shed but this was never built.

Hawkins & Allied Families –Bristol -> via London -> Glamorgan

The massive Caisson Gate for the improvements to Milford docks was built about this time, the docks becoming fully operational in 1888. Incidentally the gate is still in daily use. Soon after this the yard closed.

All that remains of the Jacob's Pill yard today is the crumbling dock gate and an ivy covered ruin that was once the mould loft, and in later days an isolation hospital.
